

TROJAN '68

1968 TROJAN

This book portrays people
the SHS population engaged in exercise, be it mental or physical and in a search for enlightenment and fulfillment
A people in hot pursuit of happiness and good times and the spirit of their efforts
A year
in itself
a little good . . . a little bad
a little different . . . yet not unlike the others
after all, only people make it different
And in twenty years more—maybe a terrific year for wine if the grapes were good . . .
And how were the grapes this year?

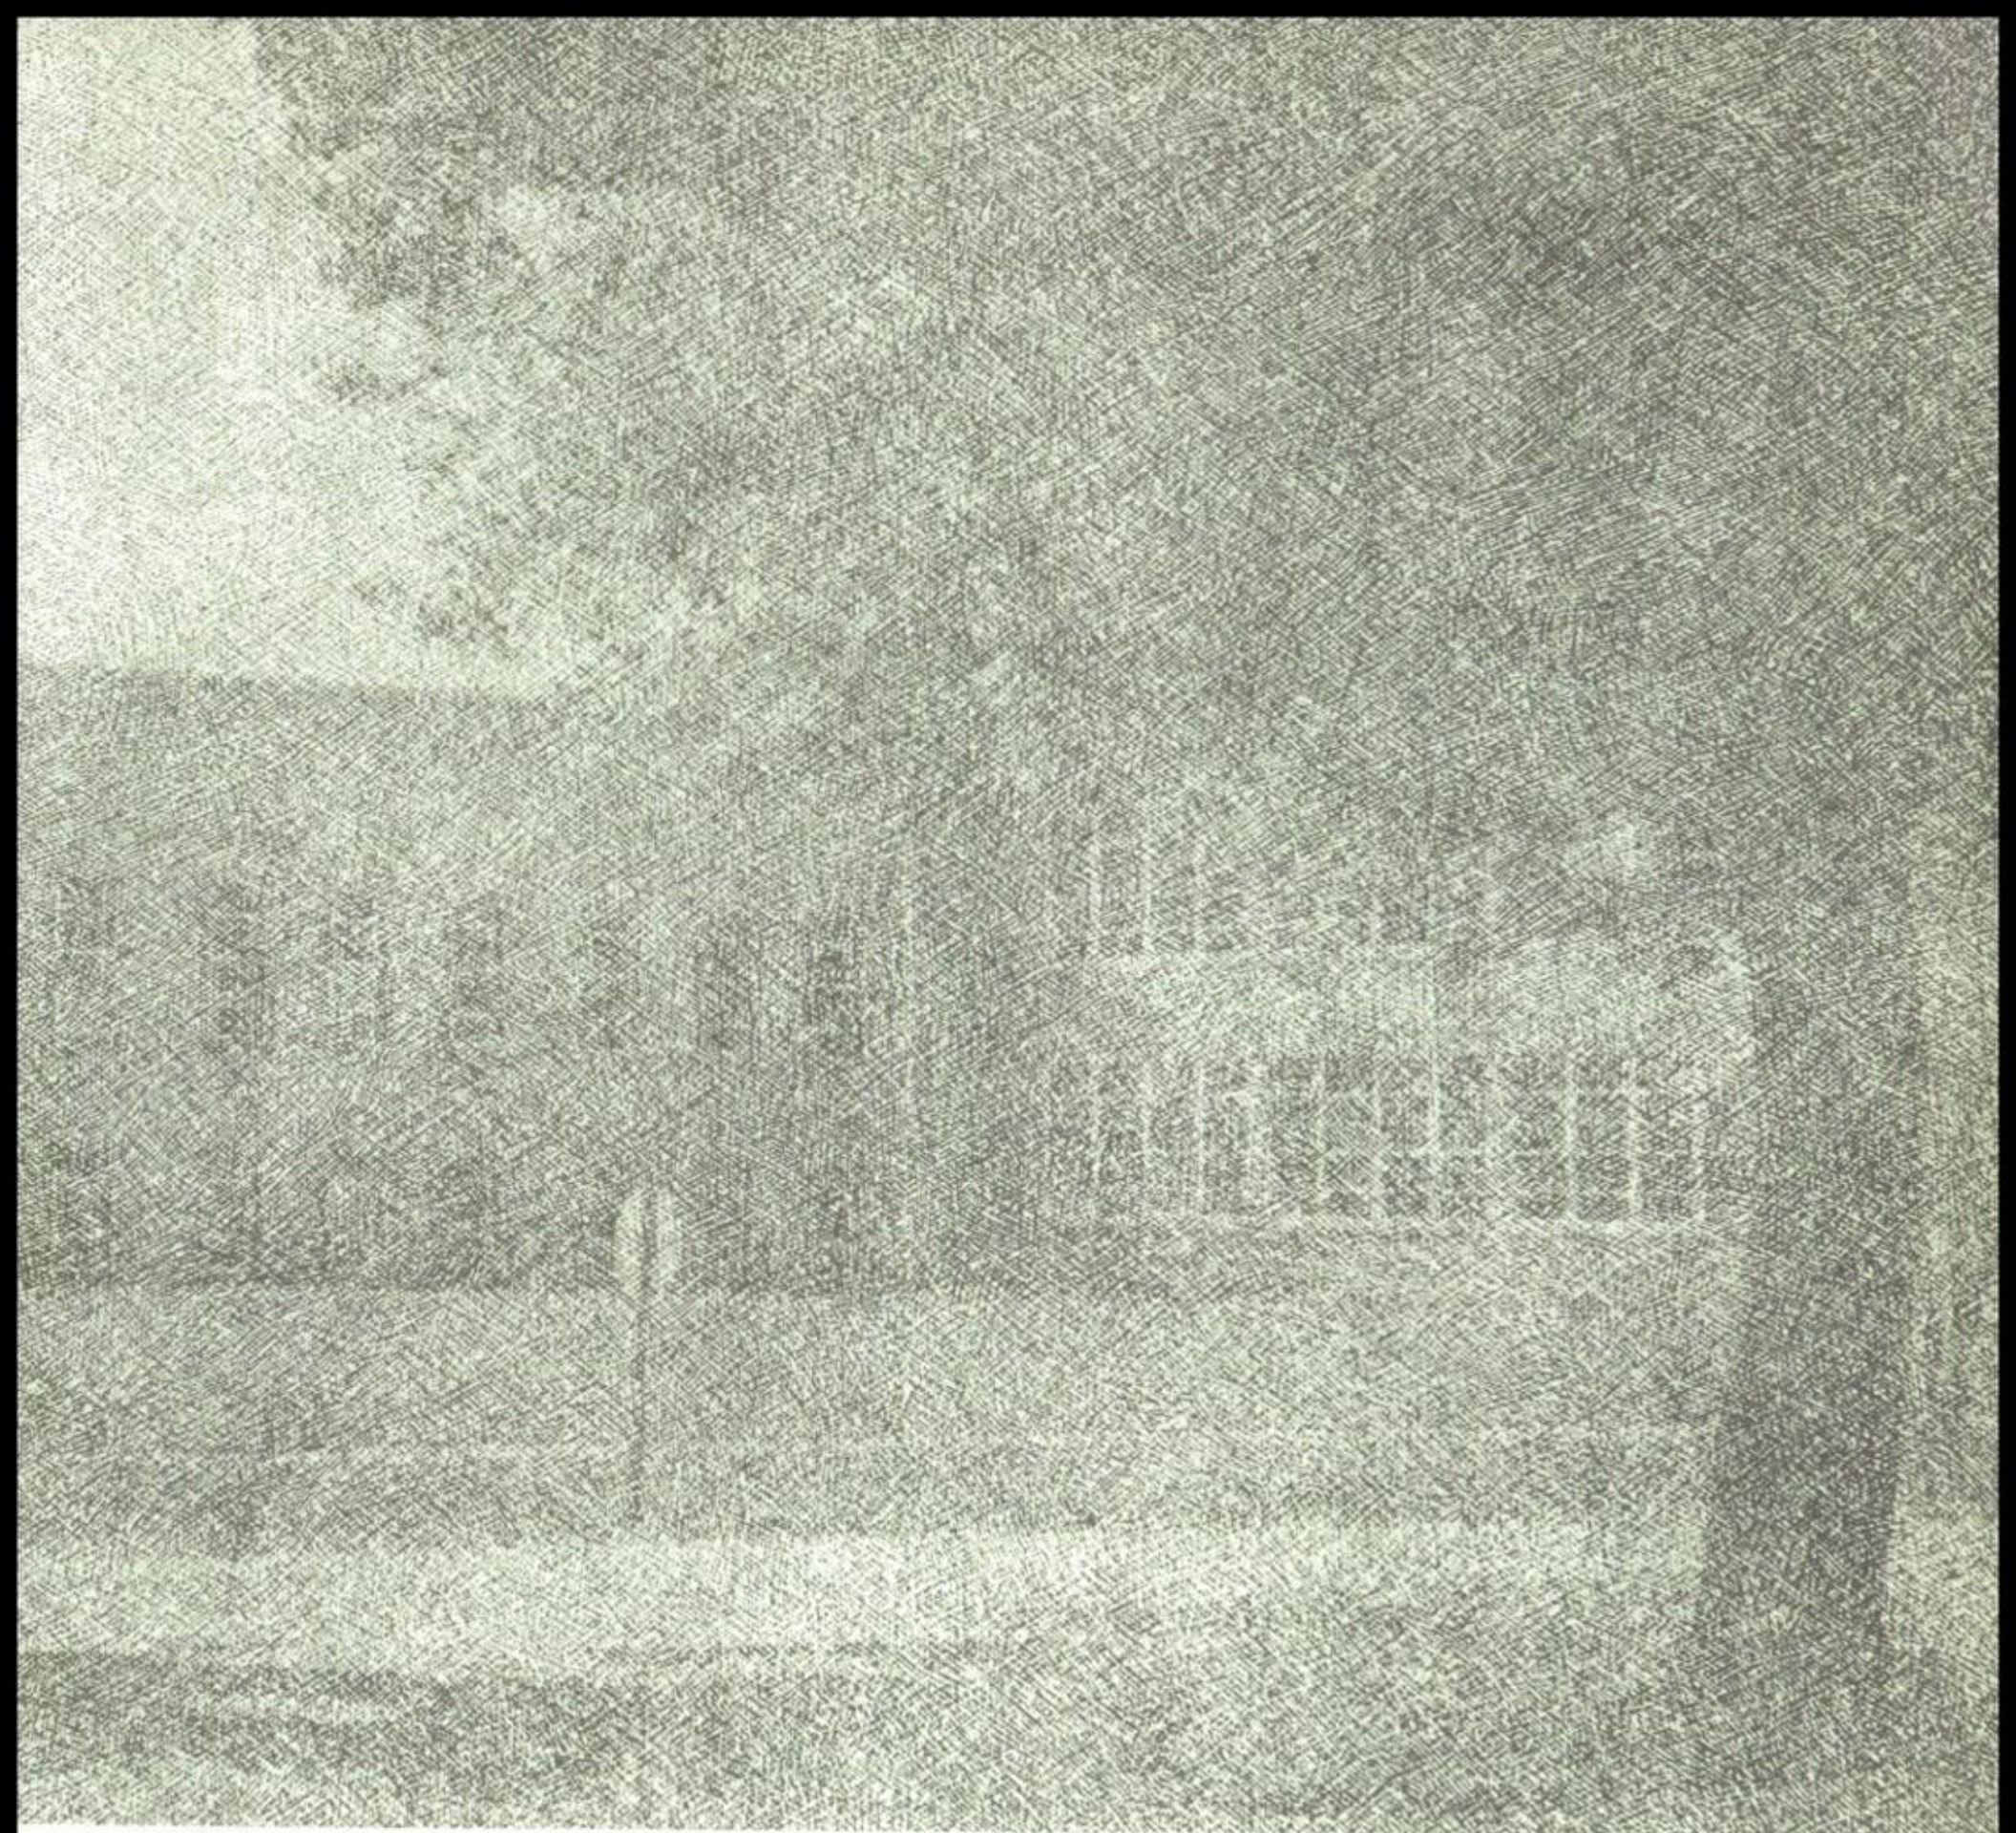

Impressions of a Year

Another year has slipped away as we watched seemingly unaware of its swift flight. Though a year is gone, Impressions remain. Impressions of weeks that seemed like minutes,

of a year that was a day.

So many impressions . . . it was a year of search and the reward of

That Slipped Away . . .

discovery, of deep thought and rousing action, of friends and shared customs—a year that held an abundance of familiar sights & sounds that united traditions and new experiences into lasting remembrances.

Impressions of a year that slipped away.

Dedication

We, the 1968 Trojan staff, wish to dedicate our yearbook to Mr. Ray Schaefer. He has taught at Sebring High School for twenty-one years and has been the athletic director for thirteen years. Prior to coming to Sebring, Mr. Schaefer, coached basketball at Corinth, Kentucky for three years and taught in Kent, Ohio for one year.

Mr. Schaefer, who is a sports enthusiast, is an outstanding football and baseball player. He played semi-professional football with the "Fairmount Bulls." Coming to Sebring, he continued to be active in sports. He coached basketball for eight years, in addition to being the assistant football and baseball coach for five years. Under his excellent supervision, Coach Schaefer and his teams won several honors and trophies. During his coaching years, Eddie Jordan and Joe Tucker made the All-State Basketball Team. Coach Schaefer and his teams were the Tri-County League Co-champion, in 1949-50; Tri-County Champions in 1952-53; McDonald "B" sectional winner in 1949, 1951, and 1952; and Ohio High School Athletic Association District Runner-up, Class B in 1952.

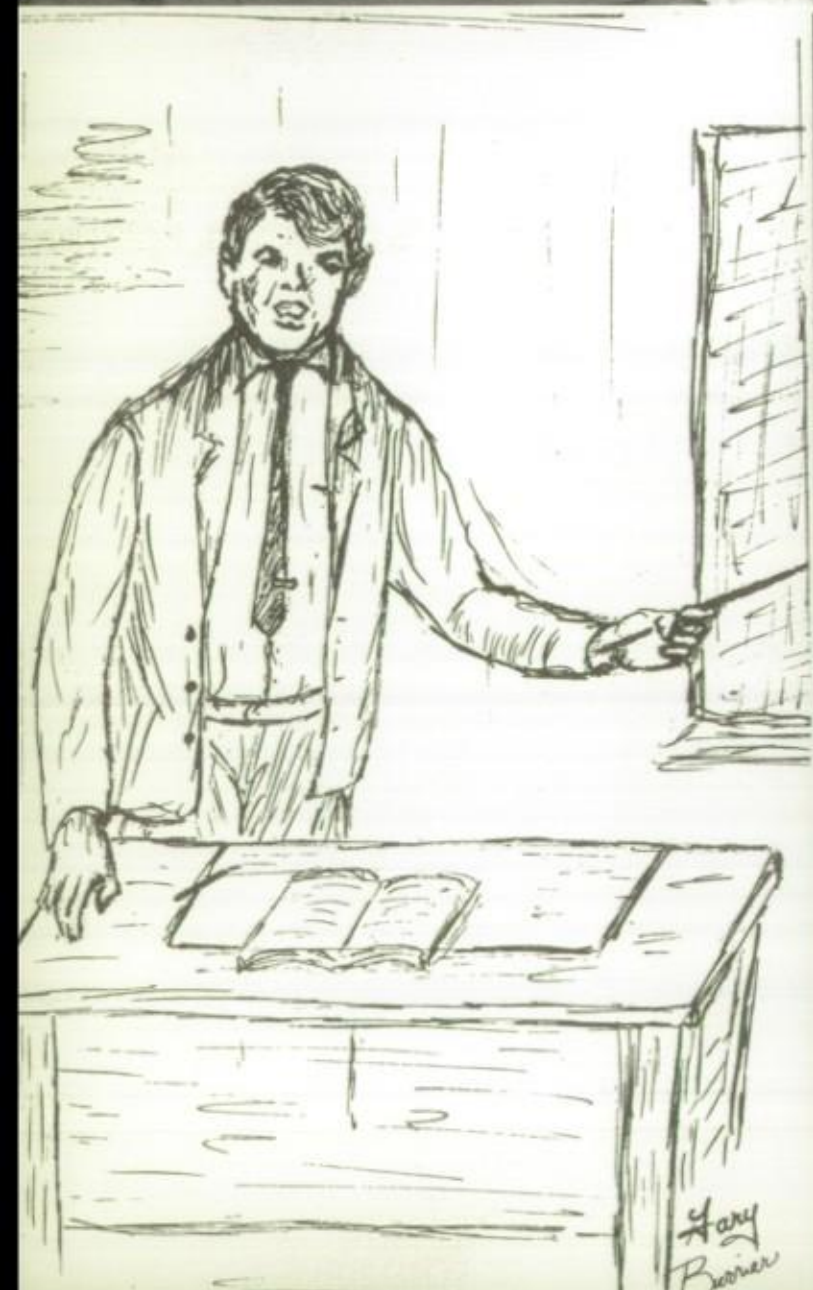

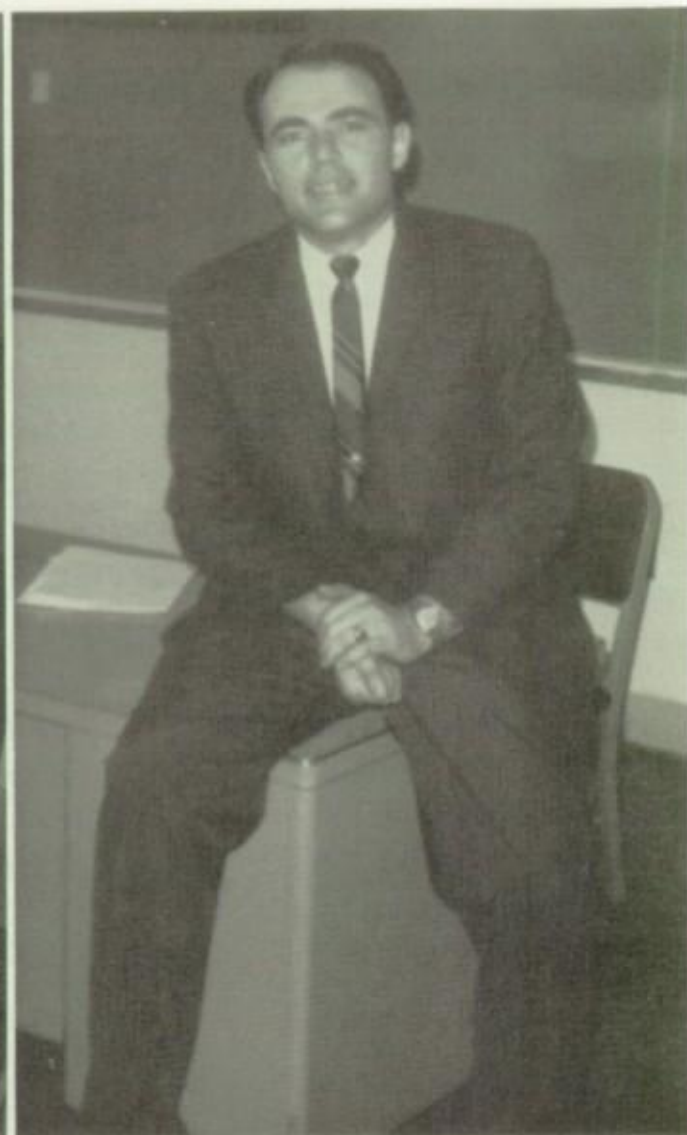

Mr. Schaefer also is one whom the students honor and admire. Throughout his teaching career he has won the sincere confidence of all, not only as a teacher but also as a friend. Therefore, this Trojan staff deems it an honor to dedicate the yearbook to an outstanding educator who is still with us. We also wish him continued success in his endeavors.

Mr. Schaefer is pictured above, hard at work during one of his busy days as Athletic director.

Juniors Work Extra Hard To

Where could they be?

You won't find your gym shorts in here!

Now who ever heard of getting their finger stuck in a stapler!

It takes one to know one!

Class of 69

Though small in number, the juniors are always prepared for their class duties and fund-raising activities. It is well-known that the juniors are responsible for the Homecoming Float. The Class of '69 did an excellent job on the float this year with the limited time they were allotted. A new technique was added by the juniors. Stapling the tissue flowers to a solid plywood frame proved a great "time-saver" over the previous method of securing the flowers with string to a wire frame.

Beginning the year with earnings from their sophomore and freshman years, the juniors were challenged with meeting the high cost of the Junior-Senior Prom. Selling Trojan pins to the student body was the first attempt. This project helped raise the school spirit in addition to increasing the class treasury. Numerous bake sales, slave days, and car washes followed, each a helpful boost toward paying for the prom. Sponsoring the sweatshirts sales also yielded a substantial profit. With money collected from a rummage sale, coat check, and class dues, the juniors obtained the needed sum for their big night.

When prom time came, the juniors were ready. With the help of the class sponsors and class co-operation, the juniors had a very successful prom. The Class of '69 will have lasting impressions of their junior year that slipped away.

Sophomore Activities Pave the

With the knowledge gained after working on projects in our freshman year, we the class of 1970 were well prepared to plan an active sophomore year. The class calendar was planned well in advance to provide an interesting and profitable year.

At Homecoming time, the Sophomores were responsible for decorating the stadium. Eager to prove our ability as an active class, we covered the goal posts and stadium with hundreds of feet of purple and gold streamers and crepe paper.

One of the class's first projects was the selling of 500 cans of candy. With advanced promotion for our two dances, we continued to add to our class treasury. Good organization and publicity helped make the sophomore slave day a big success. We also worked hard on our bake sales and fudge sales. Smaller projects included a coat check at a home basketball game and the selling of Trojan pens to the student body. The fun we've had working hard together our Sophomore year was an important impression to us of a year that slipped away. The class of 1970 eagerly awaits our oncoming junior year with its excitement and challenges as we begin to think of ordering our class rings and sponsoring a Junior-Senior Prom.

On your mark, get set, go!

I was framed.

Are you positive this shark swallowed your quarter?

Are you sure Mr. Wise wanted a mural painted on this wall?

Way for a Busy Junior Year

Replacing the graduating seniors, Nancy Albert and Sue Townsend will serve as book store aides.

With nimble fingering, Laurie Henderson and Nancy Park busily type their class exercises.

Chatting seems more important than beginning tomorrow's assignment.

The First Year of High School Has

With 3 minutes between classes we have plenty of time to mess around!

Cheer gets my clothes whiter!

To start their high school years off right, the energetic class of 1971 planned a very active freshmen year with many fund-raising activities and projects. Eager to build up their treasury, the freshmen sponsored a slave day early in the school year. The class of 1971 showed their ingenuity by devising two clever money-making ideas. As a follow-up of their slave day, the freshmen sponsored a slave sale for the male upperclassmen. The freshmen girls were disguised with sheets and a paper bag over the head and sold for 2 hours of labor to the highest bidder. This novel idea proved a real money-maker for the inventive freshmen. A second witty project was the Halloween Insurance Policy Sale. Policies were designed and printed by the class and sold to the community. The freshmen agreed to clean-up any messes which occurred to their policy-holders over the Halloween weekend. Selling over 130 policies in this unique project, the class members added a tremendous boost to their class treasury. Keeping busy the year round, the freshmen parked cars for the Homecoming, sponsored a dance, and numerous bake sales. Finishing a successful year, the proud freshmen look forward to the many activities of their remaining high school years.

Are you sure I'm the one that's pigeon-toed?

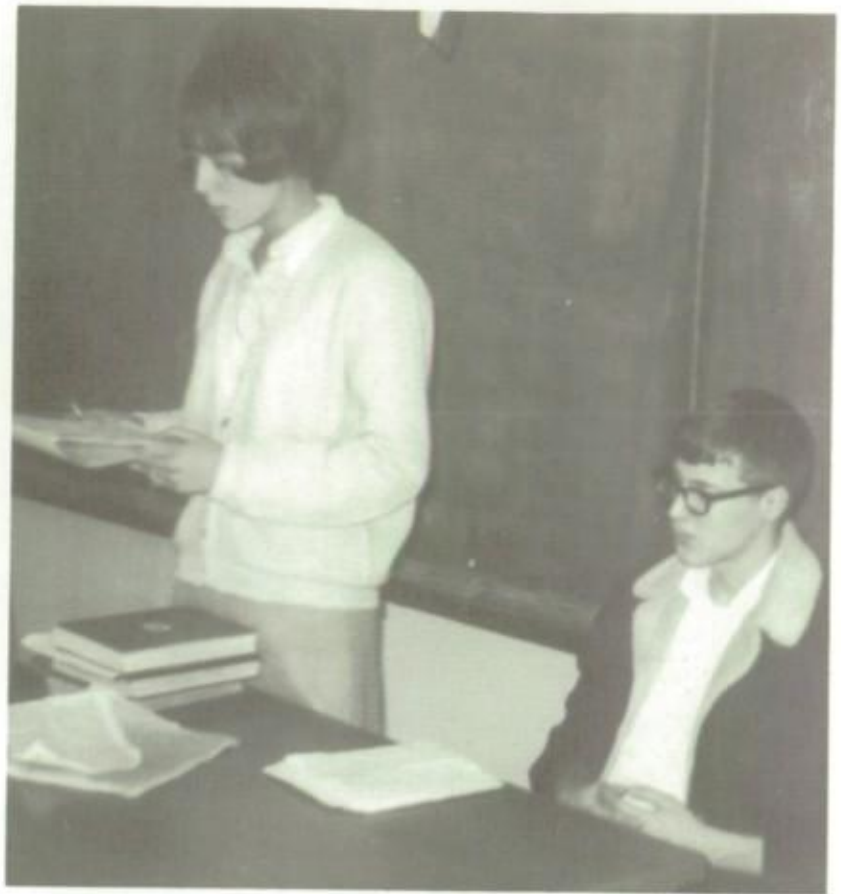

I wonder if Lawrence Welk got started this way?

Slipped Away from the Freshmen

Tom Brinack, suffering from osteochron-dritis, a slipping of the hip socket, keeps up with his classmates by using a home-school intercom.

Vice-President Don Campbell and secretary Susan Courtney make plans for a bake sale at a Freshman class meeting.

For their Latin club initiation the Freshman had to wear Latin markings on their face.

Bill Irvin works diligently in industrial arts class.

Alan Flowers is performing one of his many tasks as manager of the basketball teams.

Honor Society Induction

National Honor Society is an organization for those students who excel in leadership, Scholarship, character, and service. Under the supervision of Mrs. Patterson, the members of N.H.S. perform duties for the benefit of the high school and the community. They substitute for teachers, tutor those students who need help in a subject area, and collect money for certain drives.

The main event for National Honor Society is the induction of new members in the spring. A program is set up with a main speaker who is usually a past member of N.H.S.

Meetings of N.H.S. are held once a month to discuss projects and service programs. Working on the Red Cross drive, trimming the high school Christmas Tree, and posting the monthly calendar were among the main service programs for this year's National Honor Society.

David Bohecker is shown lighting the candle of leadership.

Terry Iddings approaches the stand for the explanation of the symbol.

The inductees are receiving their flowers and certificates.

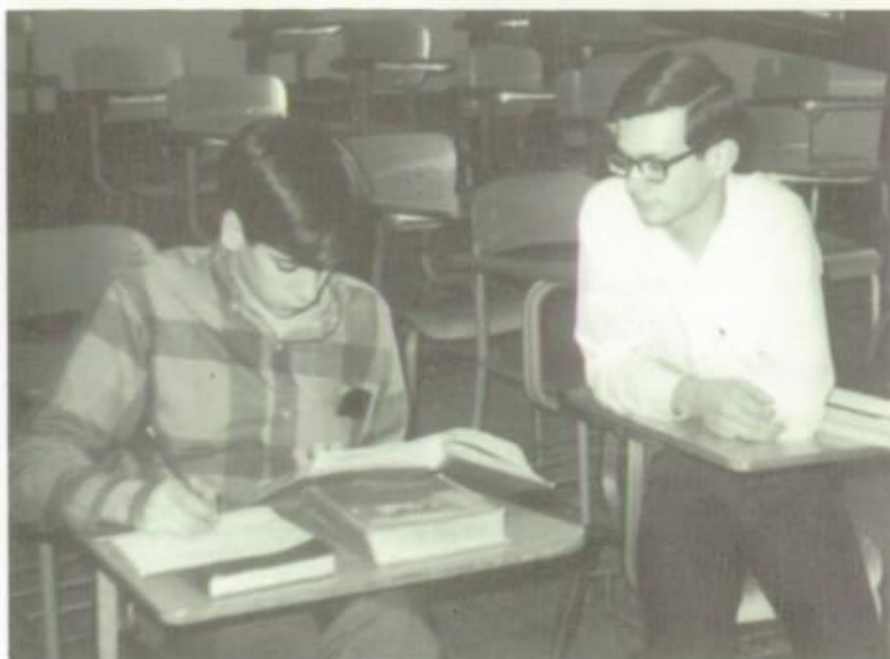

The guests enjoy the tea served by Bonnie Schreckengost, Linda Blake, and Marsha May after the induction.

Other N.H.S. Activities

Chris Scarpitti, president of N.H.S. conducts a monthly meeting.

As a service of honor society, Duane Diver tutors David Hawkins with his math.

Mike Weitz, secretary, reviews the minutes he took of the last Honor Society meeting.

Cheryl Roberts and Chris Scarpitti are shown announcing on WMCK service.

Pat Brindack is being initiated into N.H.S.

Old members introduce Donna Umbs to the "Fly family" as her initiation.

Rifle Club

F. Lamp, G. Craven, Mr. Snodgrass--Advisor, B. Waltz, G. Lamp.

The Rifle Club consists of those boys in grades nine through twelve, who are interested in learning how to operate and use a .22 caliber rifle. The members are required to learn the Rifleman's Code, which is a set of rules to follow in using a gun. Under the supervision of Mr. Snodgrass, the members meet every Thursday after school in the physics room. Targets are set up and the boys compete in shooting. Medals are awarded at the end of the year for outstanding marksmanship.

Frank Lamp is shown in one of the practice positions for shooting.

Mr. Snodgrass instructs Gerald Lamp on how to hold the gun properly.

Gary Craven sets up the shooting targets.

Our Cafeteria Aides work on a voluntary basis, helping the cooks prepare and serve lunch everyday. Some other services of the cafeteria aides include cleaning the tables, washing the dishes, and general clean-up of the cafeteria. The cafeteria aides are kept especially busy this year with the combination of the lunch shifts into one period. The loyal service of the cafeteria aides rendered to their school is appreciated by all of those who use the facilities of the cafeteria.

Linda Stowe, Cathy Wyke, and Cindy Dalton serve the day's lunch.

Visual Aides

SEATED: L. Irwin, S. Davies, C. Andrews, C. Dawson, J. Lahu. 2nd ROW: G. Wilson, R. Hoopes, P. Butler, J. Rankin, E. Braidic, Mr. Giovanatto--Advisor.

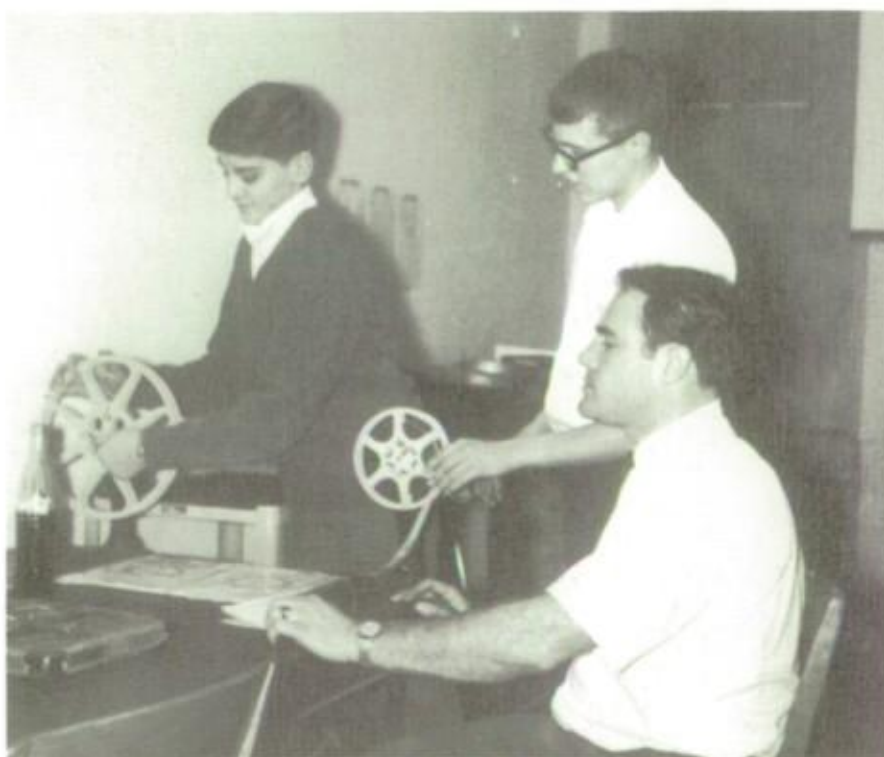

Brent Wilson and Ed Cardinal perform one of their duties as visual aides.

Mr. Giovanatto is caught off guard in the audio visual aid room.

The Audio-Visual Department provides the necessary materials and equipment for movies, filmstrips, tape recordings, and other audio-visual needs. The high school boys, under the supervision of Mr. Giovanatto, have many responsibilities in the Audio-Visual Department. Two boys are assigned to every school-day period. They issue out materials needed by the teachers and set up and operate the movie projector. They also provide other equipment to the teachers upon request.

Brad Fisher and Don Campbell rewind a movie tape, while Mr. Giovanatto supervises.

Student Librarians

Faith Gandee and Kathy Taylor look through the latest issues of two library magazines.

Jim Zurbrugg and Greg Rigg read books in the library during a study hall.

Student Library Assistants number 30 or more each year and are required to take a course about the Dewey Decimal classification, reference books, and library procedures before they may serve as librarians. Aiding students in the library is a service activity; it also is good training for students who are college bound. The rewards for this activity are really inherent in the service, but library aides are awarded certificates for two years of service and may purchase pins in their senior year with help of library funds. They have a social club for members who wish to join and have several parties during the year.

The Girls Athletic Association is a competitive organization for girls in grades nine through twelve. Under the supervision of Mrs. Fahnert, the organization meets every Thursday after school. The girls are divided into four teams with a team captain at the head of each. GAA games include volley ball, kick ball, and floor soccer. Championship games are played at the end of each series of games. This year Kathy Aliesch's team won all the events to win the grand championship. Participating in GAA gives the high school girls a sense of competitiveness and sportsmanship. Rules and regulations are provided for and followed for each of the sports played. Also, each game has at least two referees to insure fair play.

Donna Umbs, Janice Campbell, and Pat Brindack were three gorgeous contestants in "The Dating Game," skit.

Sue Townsend and Beth Fahnert were the judges that picked the Dream Boy.

In the Sophomore skit, Debbie Baker and Rhonda Knight were the candidates for Dream Boy.

Hi-Teens under the direction of Mrs. Mary Mego, is a service organization for girls in grades ten through twelve. There are two regular meetings a month. One is held immediately after school and the other is an evening meeting with entertainment which is presented by the members themselves, and refreshments are served. Highlight features of Hi-Teens has been the donating of baskets to needy families, collecting for the various service organizations, and sponsoring the Sweetheart Dance. Financing the various activities during the year is brought about by the fudge and bake sales, dances, and dues.

Chris Scarpitti, Pam Schindler, and Kathy Aliesch are the handsome male contestants of "The Dating Game" skit.

Marsha May, Cheryl Roberts, and Chris Scarpitti have a friendly chat after the show.

Omens Augur Busy Year for Romans

The Latin Club is an organization composed of the freshmen and sophomores who are taking Latin. The club meets once a month under the supervision of its sponsor, Mrs. Edwards. Two of Latin Club's biggest events each year are the Roman Wedding and the Latin Club Banquet. Hard work and preparation are put into these events to make them a success. The purpose of the Latin Club is to bring its members together to do as the Romans did. They conduct the meetings in the same fashion as a Roman senate meeting. Officers are elected by popular vote. The positions are consul, sub consul, quaestor, and scriptor. Also two senators are elected from each class.

Brian Armstrong and Debbie Baker were the bride and groom of the "Roman Wedding."

Rick Brubaker, Sherril Lepesty, Vicki Alfani, and Marc Wise were chosen best dressed at the banquet.

Mrs. Edwards enjoys herself at the Latin Club Banquet.

Officers of Latin Club are Brian Armstrong--Treas., Pat Larkins--Sec., Craig Andrews--V-Pres., and Dan Umbs--Pres.

New Echo Staff

Our school newspaper, THE ECHO, is published every month. Under the supervision of Mr. Lofland, the ECHO informs the students and teachers of the activities and news of the high school. It features such articles as editorials, stories, sports, gossip, and achievements of the students. It contains articles about the new fads and fashions and every month an article is written about some controversial topic.

THE ECHO is for the students. Therefore, it publishes stories, book reviews, and poems that the students compose themselves. In addition, each month the Echo writes a story about a different member of the faculty.

THE ECHO is published for the benefit of our high school. It gives to the students and teachers an opportunity to keep abreast of what is really happening.

Cheryl Roberts explains one of the many duties in preparing the school's newspaper to Bonnie French, next year's editor.

Chet Riffle writes up his story for the sports section of the Echo.

The Sebring McKinley Dramatics Club under the direction of Mrs. Kilbreath worked diligently for several months in order to present "Annie Get Your Gun." This preparation involved many behind the scene aspects of staging which included costuming, detailed planning and building of the five different scenes, developing dance routines, solo and chorus singing, and advertising and programming. The production culminated into success. The house was overflowing with enthusiastic patrons of the arts.

Tommie Radd portrayed the part of sharpshooter Annie Oakley.

Handicapped early in the year by injuries to a few key members, the Trojans were limited to a record of three wins and seven losses for the 1967 season. Though the team record will not be remembered as particularly outstanding, Trojan fans will not soon forget the exceptional performances of various individual Trojans. Also, by reviewing the size and ability of the upcoming Trojans, it looks as though much action is in store for the future. The team as a whole had an action packed season of thrilling victories and agonizing defeats, all of which have played an important role in the minds of the student body of Sebring McKinley High to form impressions of a year that slipped away.

The co-captains of the 1967-68 varsity squad were Greg Gadd and Bob Patterson. These two senior Lettermen led the Trojan squad throughout the season to a record of 9 wins and 9 losses. At left, Bob breaks through the Greenford defense to score. Below, Greg hits for two against Jackson-Milton.

Sebring Trojans—67-68 Sectional Champs

This season for the first time since 1953, the Sebring Trojans became the class "A" basketball tournament Sectional Champions. At Struthers the Trojans defeated Western Reserve 47 to 43, conquered the North Lima Zippers 61 to 49, and beat Columbiana 50 to 48 in the last two seconds of play with the sinking of two foul shots by Bob Patterson. The Trojans then went on to district action at Canton where they were defeated by Avon 65 to 53.

Ed Braidic reaches for the rebound in a close tournament game with Columbiana.

The freshmen prepare for a game.

The freshmen football team initiated the season this year with a home victory over East Canton. Sebring then went into a large losing streak for the greater part of the year. They came back toward the end of the season, however, to grasp an important win over nearby West Branch.

The freshmen basketball season is viewed from a distinctly different standpoint. Coach Phil Roudebush, who also coached the football squad, led the freshmen to a tremendous 11 and 3 record. They also went on to the first three games of the tournament.

The freshmen are patiently awaiting the arrival of next year's season, confident of securing much action as members of the Varsity and Reserve squads.

"Harvest Moon" Is the Setting for

The sensational "New Breed" provides the entertainment.

Kathy and Chuck.

The Royal Dance.

Everyone enjoys the atmosphere set by the harvest moon.

The 1967 Homecoming was held October seventh following the Trojan victory over the Poland "Bulldogs." The senior class worked extra hard to make this an outstanding night. Having decorated artistically with the many rented props and fall colored crepe paper, the seniors set the mood well for the theme "Harvest Moon." Lovely Queen Kathy reigned over the dance held in the beautifully decorated auditorium. All in all, this big night will long be remembered as an important impression of a year that slipped away.

Love Is a Many

"Love is a Many Splendored Thing" was chosen for the romantic theme of the 1968 Sweetheart Dance, sponsored by the Hi-Teens. After much preparation, the auditorium was transformed into a beautiful decorated ballroom of red and white hearts. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Queen, Miss Janice Campbell. Providing the music and setting the romantic atmosphere for the dance was the spectacular "New Breed" from Salem, Ohio. To Janice, her court, and the couples attending the dance, this wonderful evening will not soon be forgotten as an important impression of a year that slipped away.

Band Banquets

The annual band banquet was held on March 18, 1968 at St. Ann's Catholic Church. Ladies from the church prepared the meal which was served to one hundred seventy-five members and their guests. After the dinner the various awards were presented by Mr. Iddings, president of Band Boosters. Mr. Odadzin announced the Band Queen to highlight the evening. A dance for the band members and their guests concluded the evening's activities.

The Juniors chose "Roman Holiday" for the 1968 Prom theme. The dance was held at the B. L. Miller School where the juniors had transformed the lobby and gymnasium into a beautifully decorated Roman garden. Various fountain arrangements, draped Roman columns, and a mural depicting the Roman Forum added to the atmosphere. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the queen, Miss Cheryl Roberts. Her court consisted of Rea Cruikshank and Susan Poorbaugh. Music by a sensational group, "The New Zoo," helped make the 1968 Prom an enjoyable evening for everyone.

Student Government Day

The Mayoral candidates with their party symbols are Bill Cardinal--Democrat and David Bohecker--Republican.

Sponsored by the American government classes and directed by Mr. Kenneth Brooks and Mr. Ronald DiPillo, our student Government Day was a major impression to the seniors of a year that slipped away.

The purpose of the program is to impress upon the students one of the most important duties of a responsible citizen, which is voting for the American way. In changing from usual system, this year's Government Day was highlighted by voting for state and national figures as well as on the local level. Delegates to a national convention were chosen from each homeroom to represent both parties. Seniors petitioned for offices on the local levels and primaries were held in each party to determine the candidates for the big election on Government Day. The registered voters in grades nine through twelve cast their votes on May 7th for their local, state, and national candidates.

Underclassmen participate as board of electors on Government Day.

Party chairmen, Rosemary Junewick and Duane Diver, campaign for their mayoral candidates.
